

Welcome!

- Sam Fox, AmeriCorps Community Involvement Coordinator

Sam was raised in upstate New York, educated in Montana and Oregon and came to the Center from the Olympic Peninsula of Washington. He is enjoying drying out and is also looking forward to classic XC skiing this winter around Boise with his partner. If you know of something he should not miss in his year in Boise, be sure and let him know!

- NSF GK-12 GRANT FELLOWS

This GK-12 project partners Boise State University graduate students (GK-12 Fellows), from the biology and geoscience departments, with science education centers, including the Boise WaterShed. If you would like to request a GK-12 scientist in your classroom, contact Brian or...Brian!

Brian Anderson, Hydrologic Sciences

Brian's research focuses on the role of snow in the hydrologic cycle, and he is conducting a field investigation to quantify how climate and topography influence snow cover variability in the Boise Foothills.

November. Thank you to the more than 70 volunteers who helped monitor the health of the Boise River. Mark your calendar for the next Watershed Watch event on April 17, 2010.

New lessons for pre-K through 12th grade students are posted on our web site. Check out the following under the Lessons and Tours tab: Get in Touch with Nature for grades pre-K – 3, Fishing for Fun for pre-K, Explore Your Watershed for grades 3-6, and Microbiology and Hydrology lessons for grades 6-12.

Congratulations Donna-Marie Hayes, one of several honorees of the 2009 Women of Today award through Girl Scouts of the Silver Sage Council. The award recognizes women of extraordinary vision, achievement and leadership.
